The Election in St. Louis. Two weeks since we published the ac count of the triumph of Freedom in the recent municipal election at St. Louis .-We have noted with deep interest, the effect of that event upon that large body of men in the Slave States, who while they feel and know, that slavery is an unmitigated curse, bitherto have not dared to open their lips; and also upon the thorough paced advocates of the heaven sent institution. Viewed merely us a local election, it is of small consequence, but when it is considered that this is the first time in the annals of the United States, when in a large city, the capital and emporium of a slave State, with the issue between freedom and sla very, fairly and distinctly made, that the slave power has been set at defiance and defeated by the citizens themselves. An era is marked in the course of human progress. This election will prove the entering wedge which in each coming year will cleave deeper and deeper into the very heart of the upas tree. whose branches have ovehung the whole tand, poisening and blighting wherever its dark shadows rested; and when, by the power of coming events, it shall be driven home, the huge trunk will be riven from its root to its top. The pres tige of invincibility upon its own soil, has been broken, and men have learned that truth and the right are stronger than tyrrany and wrong.

The importance attached to this election is evidenced by the following extracts from an ultra pro slavery paper, and one of another stamp, in a slave one day, but was each time promptly
